

Brian Beaton, Vanden Bussche Irrigation, was ready to offer helpful advice on irrigation products

Wild Blueberry producers listened intently to Peter Rideout, NS Dept. Agriculture Planning & Development Officer, as he gave an update on present and future market potentials.

Ron Kennedy, Central Equipment had lots of information to pass along to visitors.

Packaging of product is always important. Lee Turner, of Norampac, displays boxes frequently used to package berries in 5 and 10lb lots.

Peter Van Dyk makes a presentation to retiring director Ken MacPhee.

Bill McLeod, NS Crop & Livestock Insurance Commission, helped sort out any confusion between Crop Insurance and Wild Life Compensation.

Dan McDonald, Musquodoboit Valley Resource Supply had various parts for harvesters on display at the trade show.

Peter Van Dyk makes a presentation to retiring director John Quinn.

Beth Densmore, President of the Federation of Agriculture. The Federation was first organized in 1895 and now represents 2400 farm families producing 27 difference commodities.

Bernie Watts gives Doug Stevens a closeup view of Koppert Canada Ltd. bumblebees. There are four of these boxes inside a quad and each start out with about 900 to 1000 bees.

WBPANS Pres. Peter Van Dyk presents Mike Nicholas, a UK Food Marketing Specialist, with pictorial book of Nova Scotia as a thank you gift.

SQUAWKER
The electronic bird deterrent
Mk IV

Phoenix

Specialists
In Pest & Predator
Deterrent Equipment

475 MacElmon Road, Unit #10, Debert, NS B0M 1G0
TEL: 902 662 2444 FAX: 902 662 2888
phoenixagritech@uniserve.com www.phoenixagritech.com

Environmentally friendly bird control for blueberry fields.

PROLINE[®]

Use Proline[®]
this season to manage sprout year diseases in lowbush blueberry.

BAYER Bayer CropScience

Always read and follow label directions.
Proline[®] is a registered trademark of Bayer.
Bayer CropScience is a member of CropLife Canada.