who need it most and more, Bill's gift will have a lasting impact and his legacy of kindness will live on.

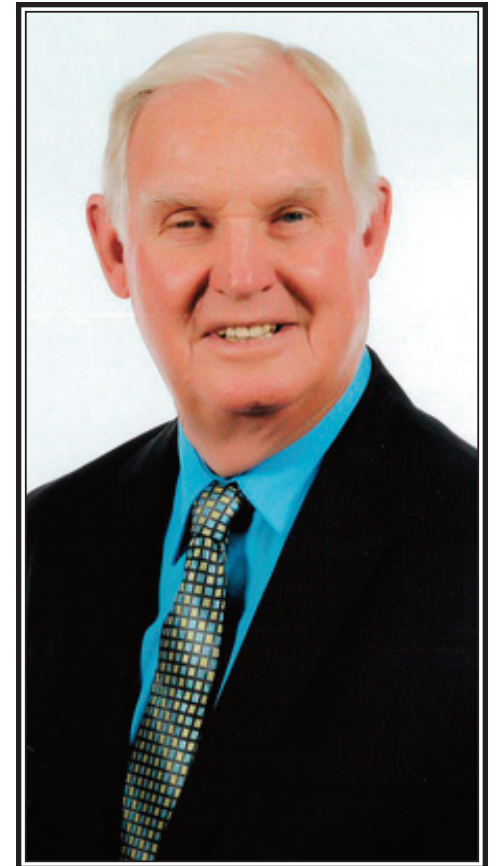

"Bill would constantly ask staff how he could help with other patients. When he made the donation, he did not want any acknowledgement, he only wanted to help others," says Krista McNeil-O'Dwyer, Team Lead- RN, CEHHC Dialysis Unit. "We as a unit will always remember Bill fondly. His generous spirit and kindness have impacted so many and to see our unit named in his memory is going to bring joy to all."

Following his passing, the Lake family agreed that Bill would never have asked or expected to be honoured in this way, but it would have moved him deeply. "In the three years he spent as a patient on the unit, he was always just another patient. He quietly helped others who needed it, but never wanted anyone to know. It is our honour to recognize him and have his legacy of kindness be remembered," says Sharon Crowe, Executive Director with the CEHHC Foundation.
