

Colchester Seeking Funding to Upgrade Airport

Council committee has authorized staff to apply for funding to initiate $6-Million in infrastructure upgrades at Debert Airport. Previously council asked staff to investigate the magnitude and potential costs of major upgrades at Debert. The four part staff report was presented to council committee on May 9th by Crawford MacPherson, Director of Community Development.

In December 2016 council asked for a report and cost estimates of: upgrades to the GPS approach for aircraft; automated weather station, AWOS and repaving the runways, including taxi and apron.

Upgrades to the GPS approach is underway and in year one will cost $23,000 and will be completed this fall. A modular and scalable Automated Weather Observation Station (AWOS) entry level would cost approximately $100,000 with the full AWOS program costing $300,000. Adopting AWOS I phase is a limited investment that improves the level of service for aircraft and also demonstrates to existing or potential users, the Municipality's commitment to maintaining and improving infrastructure at Debert.

Repaving of Runway and Taxi ways would cost in the vicinity of $6.15-Million and would include a 50mm mill and overlay for two of three runways as well as one of the taxiways and a portion of the main apron. The work would have an estimated service life of 15 years.

In making the presentation to council committee, Crawford MacPherson, Directory Community Development stated in going forward council either had to invest in the Debert Airfield to bring it up to standard, or abandon the facility as an airport. A master plan is expected to cost $60,000.

The 2016/2017 capital budget had included $375,000 for fencing, but the project did not proceed. Going forward the 2018/2019 budget includes $6-Million for airport upgrades. On motion by Councillor MacInnes, seconded by Councillor Cavanaugh, council committee asked staff to make application to ACOA, Transport Canada and any other identifiable funding agency for the AWOS system, runway Upgrades, Fencing and Master Plan.

Debert Elementary School Notes

By Erma Cox

Our grade six students have been busy baking and using their math skills while raising funds for another very worthwhile cause. As a result of some very talented individuals and a school of hungry munchkins over $150 was raised this week for the SPCA. The students have had fun raising monies for their local efforts as part of the WE Day challenge and we await new and exciting efforts on their part to address their global initiative.

The library has been a place of excitement as most of our books are now back from the cataloguer and shelved allowing lots of new choices each Thursday. I have applied to the Indigo Adopt-A-school Program again as we want to continue to increase our book selection and encourage all children to read on a daily basis.

Debi Rushton and Steve Caudle are preparing for our annual Picnic Lunch and Field Day. We will be hosting this event on June 20th. We also have a group of students travelling to Pictou on June 1st to experience a variety of sports that may peak their interest.

We are very excited to have approximately 60 students sign up for our Running Club. Mrs Barnhill has started training with this group but due to the weather it will be a shortened training schedule this year. We have the "Run this Town" scheduled for June 16th with all hopes that we have nice weather for both the runners and the community who have supported us each year.

Dig out the noisemakers the runners absolutely love the large number of people who cheer them on.

Class trips, Recognition night, musical presentations, chick hatching and Active Living Day are other activities that are keeping us on our toes on a daily basis. Here's hoping the weather is a little drier and warmer for all of the planned outdoor activities that are planned.

I saw stars

(home is here)

Raindrops kept falling in my room
Both my computers went boom
Went two years without heat
Furnace fumes were really neat

I saw stars

Spider webs began to grow
Then winter winds would blow
A comfort quilt kept me warm
Freezing from a blizzard storm

I saw stars

Wondering would spring return
Churn that butter oh must churn
A robin came for goodness sake
Get out that rake oh must rake

I saw stars

Ceiling dropped on my head
On my floor and on my bed
When i rose to my feet
Thought the lord i would greet

I saw stars

In the end all was well
I really hadn't gone to hell
Walked out the door headed west
Love my lady she's the best!

I saw stars

God bless and thank-you

Maybee seeks Colchester Council's Participation

By Maurice Rees

Colchester municipal councillors and staff listened intently to Janet Maybee outline several of the many activities involving Colchester professionals and residents as they worked frantically to help during the Halifax Explosion nearly 100 years ago. Ms Maybee participated in a Presentation meeting to council on Tuesday, May 2nd.

Maybee was asking council to consider what it might do, or assist doing to recognize the valiant efforts of those from Colchester and Town of Truro at upcoming 100th anniversary events this December. She acknowledged the important role Boston played in assisting during the disaster which killed more than 2,000, which was more than the number of Nova Scotians who lost their lives during World War I.

She cited the real problem regarding Boston is that the annual Christmas tree celebrations which started in 1971 are constantly erasing local heroism by the myth that Boston saved the city. Boston's relief contingent did not arrive until two days later. Meanwhile, NS doctors and nurses and volunteers of all sorts left Truro were working without rest or food to deal with the casualties in terrible conditions.

As part of her presentation she outlined the very first trainload of medical people, firemen and equipment from outside Halifax departed from
