

The heart shaped flower garden is the focal point as you enter off Plains Road. (Harrington Photo)

Hearts Haven Memorial Park to open July 23

Continued from page 1

weighing 700lbs each and destined for the bridge were stolen last month. Councillor Marie Benoit says, "It was unbelievable someone would steal from this site. They must have had a plan for them, as they were not easy to move." She went on to say how once again the community businesses have stepped up and will make sure the bridge will get built at minimal costs.

There has been overwhelming support from the community to help get the work done. On Wednesday, May 24th a group of volunteers joined Michael van den Hoek, from Lowland Gardens to help plant hundreds of flowers.

Hearts Haven Memorial Park will meld what was two tragic locations into a wonderful space for communities to come together in peace, joy and love. Join Hearts Haven Memorial Park facebook group for current updates on the Grand Opening at the end of July.

Work continues on the trails and installations at Hearts Haven Memorial Park. (Harrington Photo)

The Shoreline Journal

Walkways are still being completed. A bridge will be built over this brook. Construction has been held up waiting to replace the two rails that were stolen last month. (Harrington Photo)

TRURO PRIDE PARADE & FUN DAY

Saturday June 24

Fun Day in Civic Square from 12PM to 4PM

Parade begins at 1PM

Details at downtowntruro.ca

TRURO PRIDE

A nice play kitchen is being built. (Harrington Photo)