

Aren't I handsome? This Cumberland County goat was happy to pose for a photo.

Jessica Liebmann and her dog Angel were competing in the Dog Obedience Class.

Showing turkeys is not as easy as it looks but Maggie Burke had things well under control.

Nicole MacKenzie, from Colchester County, was Reserve Grand Champion Livestock Showman.

Historic Sites

Along The Shore - Captain John Congdon and the Barque "Bedford"

The Shoreline Journal, in collaboration with the Colchester Historical Society Archives, have inaugurated an ongoing feature utilizing a combination of the digital "A. F. Church Maps" to pin point the circa 1875 location of a Colchester site of historical importance, and connect it to an archival photograph of that site, in that frame.

The old meets the new, in the early part of the 20th Century, before the age of the automobile.

By Dick Akerman

The arrow pointer on Map # 303 shows the location of Captain John Congdon's home in Great Village, still lived in by the Congdon family. The photos are from a newspaper account of the following incident.

One of the regular cargos for Nova Scotia sailing vessels in the latter half of the 19th century was the newly discovered Pennsylvania oil, shipped in wooden barrels to ports in Europe.

In March of 1885, Capt. John Congdon of Great Village, sailing the Clifton built ship "Bedford", from New York to Amsterdam, at mid ocean, had his vessel struck by lightning, and the ensuing fire got to the cargo in the hold.

Congdon had the hatches double tarped and covered to keep oxygen from the fire, and kept sailing.

The same storm disabled his rudder, so he jury-rigged a replacement, and continued sailing. A passing vessel, going in the other direction offered assistance, Congdon declined, said he had everything under control! Arriving at his destination, and uncovering the cargo they found much damage, and the cast iron knees of the vessel were buckled, repaired, the vessel sailed again. A burned stave from one of the oil barrels, along with the captain's telescope still survive.

Ironically, after many dangerous years at sea, Captain Congdon died in a farming accident at nearby Lornvale.

Dick Akerman has been compiling information on behalf of the Colchester Historical Museum Archives, which will be published as a monthly column in the Shoreline Journal.

Colchester East Hants Health Authority 2011 INFLUENZA VACCINATION CLINICS

The Best Protection

- Vaccination is the most important thing you can do to protect yourself and your loved ones from the risks of seasonal influenza (flu).
- The vaccine is free for all Nova Scotians and will protect against different types of influenza, including H1N1.
- It is recommended that all Nova Scotians get the vaccine especially those at high risk of influenza-related complications and those who care for them.
- The vaccine is available at family doctors offices, Public Health clinics and other public clinics in Tatamagouche and Hants North. Private clinics are also hosted in some workplaces and the Millbrook and Indian Brook First Nations communities.
- When attending a clinic please bring your Health Card. We ask that you do not visit a clinic if you have a cough & fever or common flu symptoms.
