

Virginia Langille Turns 100

100 Years Young!

When asked the secret to living to be 100, she gave a hearty laugh and said, "Just grow old and be mean!", but then added perhaps her many years out in the fresh air, tending to her beautiful gardens, might have been the biggest reason.

Family and friends gathered at Debert Court, where Virginia has lived for the past 5 years, after moving from her home in Economy. "She was 94 and still living in her own home," says her daughter Marilyn Sabean, noting how amazing her mother's health has been over the years.

Virginia and husband Lawrence Langille were married for over 50 years, before he passed away. They raised four daughters: Audrey, Jean, Sharon, Marilyn and one son Les. Virginia now has 14 grandchildren and 27 great-grandchildren.

Besides her love of gardening, Virginia also enjoyed quilting.

Happy Birthday Virginia, from all your friends, family and the Shoreline Journal.

MacCaul Villa Notes

By Hazel Hill

George Cooke was here Thursday, October 9th to entertain us with music. CALA school has started again for the year and there are here at the Villa every Wednesday.

Shirley Ryan, who spent a few days at Colchester and East Hants Health Centre undergoing tests, has returned home. Merton Eagles spent Thanksgiving with his mother in Economy. Bernice Kaulback had Thanksgiving dinner with Linda and Bud Morrison on Monday, October 13th.

Linda and Bud, who had been camping at Barney's River have returned home. We wish a Happy Birthday to Angus Withrow, who celebrated a birthday in October.

For Fire Prevention Week the staff came out from Cobequid Housing. We had a fire drill after they gave a presentation on fire safety in the building.

We are very pleased with our newly paved driveway thanks to Cobequid Housing. It should be much easier to keep the snow and ice cleared off.

Stella Power's daughter, Cathy, arrived on Saturday from Cranbrook, BC for a visit with her mother. We will soon have to be ready for the "trick or treaters", as it comes later this week on Friday. We hope everyone has Happy and Safe Hallowe'en.

2ND Underwater Cable Installed

challenging work environment," said Anne-Marie Belliveau, Director of Operations at FORCE. "And while most cables are laid from shore to shore in low flowing currents, this operation is unique: we are leaving one end of the cables in some of the world's most powerful tides. The strength of the tide and potential weather mean safety is our first priority."

It is expected turbines will be installed in 2015, and when in place the end of the cable submerged in the water will be connected to the turbine. Installation of the cables will mark the end of FORCE'S infrastructure for the project.

Turbines will be installed by OpenHydro (owned by DSNS Group from France; Black Rock Tidal-Power Inc. (owned by Schottel, Germany); the Minas Energy Group and Atlantis Resources Ltd. Once installed the turbines are connected to the underwater cable and can start sending electricity to the power grid for use by Nova Scotians.

Yet to be completed is the installation, expected in 2015, of a $10-Million Sensor Technology Underwater Platform, which will allow for real-time measurement of conditions in the Bay of Fundy. The technology platform will be attached to the data cable, which was laid last year.

In November, the Minas Basin site will be hosting four buses of delegates who will be attending the International Conference on Ocean Energy, which will be held in Nova Scotia in November. The visit to Nova Scotia is the first time the conference has been held outside Europe.

Since the visitors centre opened, it had hosted over

5,000 visitors. For the first time ever

FORCE requests other vessels stay well clear of the marine operation (a minimum of 500 metres). As well, the Parrsboro wharf may be closed for defined periods during the operation. FORCE is working with all wharf users, including Fishers, and the Parrsboro Harbour Commission in an effort to minimize disruption to routine activities.

The moon is shining brightly as workers secure the massive 3 KM underwater cable to the barge. The cable was loaded onto the barge in the Port of Halifax, and then transported to Minas Passage for installation. The third cable is expected to be installed later this week. (Submitted)

It was a long workday on Sunday, October 21st, with the sun setting on the barge laying the underwater cable in Minas Passage. The area contains the highest and most turbulent tides in the world. The turbines will immediately start generating electricity when they are connected to the cable in 2015. (Submitted)

Cobequid Salmon Association Gets $20,000

Under the second round of the Recreational Fisheries Conservation Partnerships Program, the Government of Canada will provide up to $20,000 to the Cobequid Salmon Association for the Little River Restoration Project to restore fish habitat by repairing a section of the Little River which flows into the Inner Bay of Fundy.

The Little River Restoration Project includes new in-stream structures that will replicate the natural flow of the river channel and improve the riverbed environment. The project will include the planting of native trees and grasses which will lower water temperatures and improve the embankment area.

The Deadline for the December issue of Shoreline Journal is November 18
