By Maurice Rees

Jaimie Snell-Pollendine of Wentworth Valley, Colchester County, Woodland Owner of the Year for the central region was recognized at a variety of day-long events on Sunday, September 23rd, from 9:00 am to 4:00 pm.

Some of the events included: the Award Presentation at 11am by Greg Watson and Donald Cameron; a 50/50 draw; and a Barbeque from 10am to 2pm; a Fundraiser for Country View 4-H (small fee); Youth Planting Event 9am to 11am and Guided walk 1pm to 3pm.

The Snell Woodlot is located on Wentworth Collingwood Rd., Wentworth. On-going events include: Live harvesting demonstrations; Silviculture demonstrations; Horse logging demonstrations; Hardwood sawlog bucking demonstrations; Wreath making demonstrations; Firewood processing demonstrations; Hiking trails and much more.

The Snell 202-hectare (500 acres) woodlot has been in the family for generations and is managed with the support of North Nova Forest Owners Cooperative.

Additional information is available from North Nova Forest Owners Co-op, at Ph: (902)548-2400, or E-mail: north.nova@north-novaforestry.com (more 'woodlot' on pg 12 & 20)

Some roads have been built to help get product to roadside and provide easier access for forest management. (Submitted)

As a mixture of harvesting methods some mechanization is used. (Submitted)
