

RCAF Hudson Bomber Memorial

able to attend the Remembrance Service on Sept. 20th at the Great Village Cenotaph.

Luard Saunders, nephew of Richard Aubrey Luard and his wife of Ancaster, ON were accompanied by great nephew Brian Luard of Edmonton, AB. Relatives of Charles O' Hanley included his great niece Katie Schleit, niece Ann Schleit, both of Halifax and nephew Bill Cox and his wife Lesa Cox of Yarmouth. Charles still has a living sister Doris, who will turn 101 in November. She was just 17 when her brother died. Relatives of Robert Kelley had planned to attend but had to cancel at the last minute.

The Service of Remembrance was a lovely dedication to these young men. The parade, led by piper Dan Wesley, included Legion members from local Branches and members of the Great Village and District Fire Brigade. A wreath was placed in memory of each of the men at the Cenotaph. A reception was held at the Legion Hall following the Service.
Please stop by the Cenotaph in Great Village and see the lovely plaque and bench, a permanent memorial to these four young airmen.

Luard Saunders and Brian Luard place a wreath in memory of their family member RCAF Pilot Officer Richard Aubrey Luard.

Ann Schleit and Bill Cox place a wreath in memory of their family member RCAF Pilot Officer Charles Beeching O'Hanley.

Diane Barkhouse is accompanied by Sergeant-At-Arms Garry O'Neill to lay the wreath in memory of RCAF Sergeant Robert Frederick Kelley.

Maggie King-Roi places the wreath in memory of RAF Sergeant Norman Leonard Hornsey.

Comrade Logan Spencer was the first to try out the new bench. The costs of the bench were covered by the Poppy Trust Fund. (Harrington Photo)

Chris Lake and Josh Wile, of Heritage Memorials make sure the Memorial Bench is level and centered on the cement pad. Not an easy job for such a heavy granite bench. (Harrington Photo)
