Taxpayers Deserve Accurate Information

By Maurice Rees

Residents of any municipality, particularly Colchester, should receive accurate information when they call the county office regardless of the topic. Recent hysterias about the proposed Kennel Development By-law has caused a number of people to find out when the public would have opportunity to voice their opinion.

As a result of hearing from several of them, I set out to verify was I knew to be true, but wanted to ensure correctness.

Here is the situation from one Shoreline Journal follower: "I just called the county office and voiced my concerns. I also asked what the protocol is when passing by-laws. I was told that at the first meeting the public can voice concerns and at the second meeting (the one coming up on the 30th) is when the by-law would be passed. I expressed a concern over the fact that for the most part the citizens and business owners were blindsided and not made aware of this topic before the 1st meeting".

They were not given the correct information. They should have been told:

First Reading is mechanism to get on council's agenda. (No discussion)

Second Reading - opportunity for discussion, by councillor, solicitors, and general public in-put;

Third reading is passage that the proposed by-law has met legal requirements.

Council may set parameters on how long people may speak, and other guidelines deemed appropriate at the time.

Separately two other Colchester residents upset about the proposed Kennel Development By-law, questioning if councillors had actually read the document prior to discussion at council. In one case a councillor admitted they had not read the proposed by-law. In another situation, but connected to the same topic a taxpayer said, "My council member told me point blank (8 days later) when I called he not had a chance to read it yet". The resident continued by saying "That was before abruptly ending the conversation and hanging up"

Regardless of situations, taxpayers deserve receiving correct information and to be treated with respect.

Stunting at 232 Km/Hr on Hwy 104
RCMP Northwest Traffic Services of Amherst were conducting radar enforcement on Highway 104 in the Thomson Station area on August 4th. Two vehicles travelling west bound appeared to be racing at a high rate of speed. The officer locked in one of the vehicles travelling at 159 km/hr in a 110 km/hr zone. The 29-year-old man from Lakeside, Nova Scotia, was driving a 2010 Acura CSX. He was issued a ticket for speeding with a fine of $410.00. A second officer was parked in a turn-around in the median nearby and locked in the second vehicle travelling at a speed of 232 km/hr in a 110 Km/hr zone. A 19-year-old man from Quebec, who was driving a 2003 Infiniti G35, was charged for Stunting under the Provincial Motor Vehicle Act. The fine for stunting in Nova Scotia is $2,422.50. The driver's license was suspended and the vehicle was seized.

40 minute documentary released
The Centre for Local Prosperity has announced the release of the forty-minute documentary film Climate Change & the Human Prospect. The film, produced by Andrea Vandenoer of The Visual Blueprint Productions (www.thevisualblueprint.com), documents the vision created at the Climate Change & the Human Prospect: A Thinkers' Retreat held at Thinkers' Lodge in Pugwash NS in the fall of 2017. Vandenoer captures the thoughts and emotions of twenty-four global and regional Thinkers, a group comprised of scientists, economists, municipal councillors, planners, artists, community activists, First Nations and Eastern wisdom representatives, Project Drawdown Director (www.drawdown.org) and others. These Thinkers articulate global warming's cascading impact on small, rural, and coastal communities and are armed with a conviction that local action is not only possible but the best path forward in dealing with this looming environmental threat. There were advanced screenings of this film at the Peace Hall, Pugwash NS and Cumberland Energy Symposium, Springhill NS in May 2018. This engaging 40-minute documentary is available for group screenings, beginning August 24, 2018. For more information, please contact the Centre for Local Prosperity at www.centreforlocalprosperity.ca
