Atlantic Vitality Expo – September 26-28

By Maurice Rees

The Atlantic Vitality Expo, which is replacing the former Senior's Expo, will be held at the RECC September 26-28 and is expected to draw an attendance of 5,000. Council at the committee meeting on August 8th was drawing a consensus of denying a request for $2,000 through the Community Event Grant Policy until it learned the Town of Truro has approved a similar request.

The original thinking of councillors was they would pay their share loss through the ongoing annual financial guarantees to the RECC with Town of Truro on a yearly basis.

In its application RECC staff stated, The Atlantic Vitality Expo; "AVX" ignites a gathering in the heart of Atlantic Canada, bringing together wellness leaders and community members to inspire positive action that will shape the future of Atlantic Canada's Health. Both exhibitors and attendees will be motivated through a collaborative experience showcasing the latest innovations in the health and wellness marketplace.

"With much of today's awareness focusing solely on the rising costs of healthcare, many of us do not realize that the simple lifestyle choices that we make every day can be part of the solution for improved health and wellbeing. Sometimes we do not realize the value of our health until it is gone" Matt Moore, General Manager of the Rath Eastlink Community Centre stated.

"Our goal is to build a platform for improved wellness through the annual activation of the AVX. This is more than a marketing campaign, it is more than an expo, and this is our urgent call to action for residents and stakeholders alike! We as Atlantic Canadians have the highest scoring rates for obesity and sedentary lifestyles in the entire country and it is extremely important that we as leaders influence positive lifestyle change for our future generations", says Moore.

Health and Fitness expert, television star, and three-time #1 New York Times best-selling author Bob Harper Featured at the AVX is Health and Fitness expert, television star, and three-time #1 New York Times best-selling author Bob Harper. Bob is one of the most well-known fitness experts in the world thanks to his seventeen seasons as a trainer on NBC's The Biggest Loser.

Bob Harper's world came to a thundering halt when in 2017, at the age of 51, he suffered a heart attack. Naturally, the world wondered how such a paradigm of health and wellness could experience something so antithetical to his lifestyle. As it turns out, it came as a result of genetics—something no one can change—but it nevertheless served as a wake-up call to the guru.

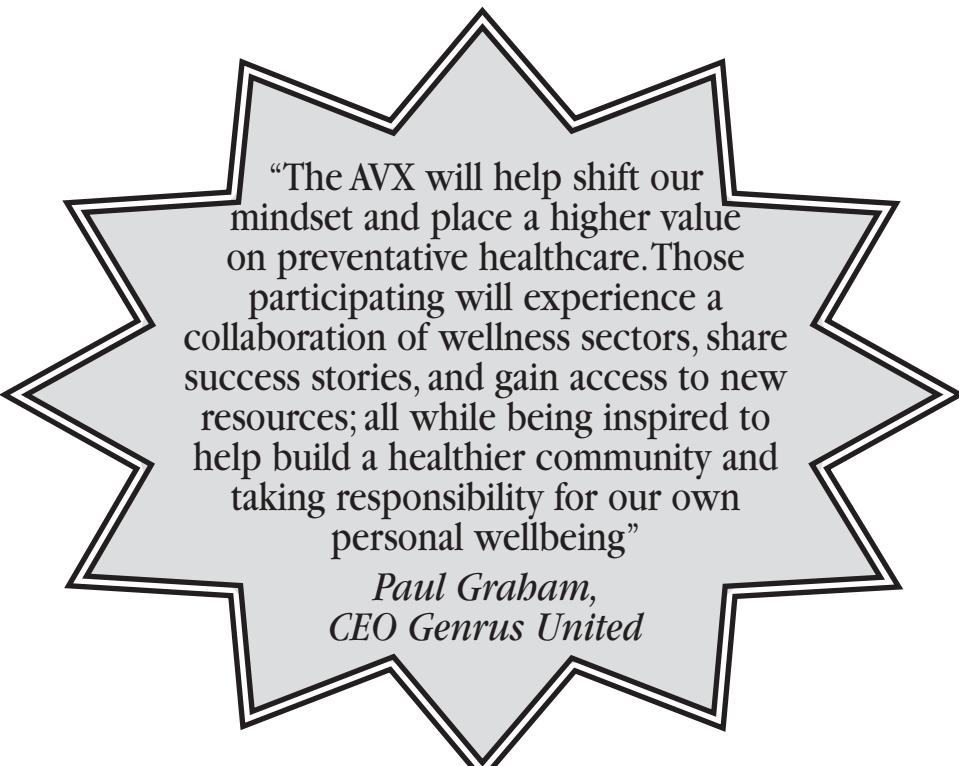

Since then, Harper has redoubled his efforts to promote physical well-being to his millions of fans and beyond, but with an added emphasis on the almost 50% of North Americans who have some form of heart disease—the leading cause of death. Harper will be the first to tell you that maintaining a healthy lifestyle is imperative for anyone wishing to have a long and fulfilling life—but unlike so many others, he backs it up with the tips, strategies, and habits proven to help shed weight and get audiences on the right track. Back and stronger than ever, Bob Harper offers everyone a second chance at their future—the same gift he received.
