

2019 Wilson's Scholarship Recipients BIO's

Haley Spencer
Great Village Wilsons, NS
Haley is headed to Acadia where she is enrolled in kinesiology with the goal of becoming a teacher. An active community volunteer, coach and athlete, Haley was heavily involved in her village's rebuilding of the local ball field. Haley is the recipient of the Jonathan McIntyre scholarship

Nominated by: Zachery MacKinnon, Manager Great Village Wilsons: Haley is an absolute asset to the company and is always willing to help out with what little free time she has. I know she will succeed in anything she aspires to be.

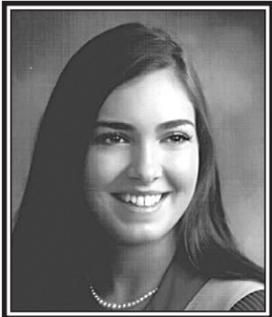

Ethan Larkin
Burger King, Lunenburg, NS
Fascinated with aircraft from a young age, Ethan has his sights set on becoming an Aircraft Maintenance Engineer. He's been accepted into the NSCC's Aviation Institute. An avid sailor who competes and teaches, he is also active with Sea Cadets. He's worked at Burger King for close to two years.

Nominated by: Robyn Ernst, General Manager, Lunenburg Burger King: Ethan consistently goes above and beyond to achieve goals, work as a team player and is positive and encouraging to others. He has shown great leadership and communication skills.

Madeline McLaughlin
Great Village Wilsons, NS
This honours with distinction high school graduate is off to Acadia this Fall where she will be studying Environmental Geoscience. Madeline works two part time jobs while maintaining a 90+ average, plus she volunteers with the local recreation centre, her school and a trail building society.

Nominated by: Zachery MacKinnon, Manager Great Village Wilsons: Madeline has displayed very good work ethic and has sacrificed a lot of personal time to pick up extra shifts. She's very positive and friendly person and is very focused on achieving her goals.

Lauren Ellis
Richmond ESSO, PE
Active in hockey, softball and horseback riding, Lauren still finds time to volunteer at a local long term care facility, for a variety of sport groups and community events. This honours student has worked at ESSO for 9 months. She's enrolled at UPEI in science with the goal of working in the health care field.

Nominated by: Kathy Gallant, Manager Richmond ESSO: Lauren is one of the most easy going and polite employees I have had the pleasure of working with. She always walks in with a smile and gets right to work. And you know everything will be completed on time.

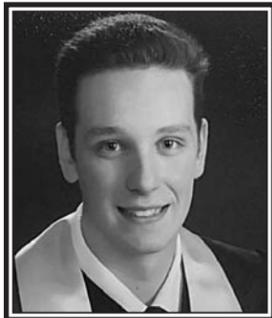

Raine Prime
Digby ESSO, NS
Breaking down the gender barriers, Raine is enrolled in the Motor Vehicle Body Repair program at the NSCC this Fall. She's been apprenticing at a local automotive business while working part time at ESSO and volunteering with 4-H, her school and Me-To-We. She received the 2018 youth volunteer award for Digby.

Nominated by: Jane Justason, Manager Digby ESSO: Raine has become a valued, well liked member of our team. I am very proud to know this exceptional young woman. To say I am impressed and awed by her is an understatement.

Chloe MacKay
Sackville Wilsons, NS
Chloe is on her way to realizing her life long dream of becoming a nurse. She's been accepted in the Bachelor of Nursing program at UPEI. An honours student, Chloe is an avid athlete and active community and school volunteer. She's also helped fundraise for various charities. Chloe has worked at Wilsons for the past year. Nominated by: Angela Faulkner, Manager Lower Sackville Wilsons: Chloe handles pressure and stressful situations with grace and a calm demeanor which is important in a busy environment like the Sackville Gas Stop. She would represent Wilsons with maturity and class.

Benjamin Shields
Enfield ESSO, NS
An honours student throughout high school, Benjamin is off to Saint Mary's where he's taking his Bachelor of Science Degree in Chemistry with the goal of becoming a Chemical Engineer. He plays hockey, soccer and badminton as well as volunteers for minor hockey and was on his school's Reach for the Top team. He's worked at ESSO for close to a year.

Nominated by: Kim Baylis, Asst. Manager Enfield ESSO: Benjamin is a very smart and energetic young man. He is responsible, reliable and loves to learn as much as he can.

Taylor Campbell
Richmond ESSO, PE
Taylor wants to change people's lives for the better. That's why she's enrolled in the practical nursing program at Holland College, starting this Fall. Working part time 15-25 hours a week at ESSO for the past two years, Taylor also volunteers with her Air Cadets Squadron and with the local Youth & Elders in Action program.

Nominated by: Kathy Gallant, Manager Richmond ESSO: Taylor is very mature and gets along well with all her co-workers. She is always on time ready for work with a smile on her face. She's willing to help out extra if the need arises and very popular with our customers.

Chelsea Partridge
Sackville ESSO, NS
Chelsea quickly rose to become Assistant Manager at Sackville ESSO and has worked there for six years. She's decided to go back to school to pursue a career in accounting, with the goal of becoming a chartered professional accountant. She's heading into her second year of the Business Administration program at NSCC. Nominated by: Natasha Hill, Manager

Fairview ESSO: This young lady has so much potential, she strives for greatness and succeeds at everything she does. I've had the pleasure of watching her grow as a person, employee and my management partner.

Improving Security an Important Step

By Maurice Rees

Colchester Councillors were complimentary about the progress being made at the Fundy Discovery Site, but want to see additional operational improvements. Their concerns centered around three areas: washrooms, condition of the entry roadway and security.

With regard to the washrooms there was concern they close when staff leaves the Information Centre in late afternoon, while there are still a large number of visitors over the supper hour and up until dusk. Staff informed council, consideration had been given to "patching" the roadway, but upon further review the staff recommendation will be to repave.

Councillors felt getting a handle on improved security against possible vandalism to the playground; washrooms and other improvements at the site would help prevent other potential problems. With the input from CAO, Rob Simonds, staff will develop a plan and report back to council. Councillors were of the mindset, a commissionaire on-site would be the best bet to handle potential situations from when summer staff finish for the day until dusk and longer periods when staff were not present at the information centre on weekends or holidays.

Women in Construction to Receive Assistance

Over $2.5-million in funding has been announced for the Nova Scotia Apprenticeship Agency for its Advancing Women in Apprenticeship project. As part of this project, 40 women will benefit from increased awareness of the skilled trades as a first-choice career for women, employer-specific training, and support to find and retain employment in well-paying, high demand construction trades.

Participants will include women from diverse communities, including African Nova Scotians, Indigenous people and newcomers. This is an Atlantic-wide project funded through the Women in Construction Fund, which supports projects building on existing models that have proven to be effective in attracting women to the construction trades.

These include mentoring, coaching and tailored supports that help women to progress through their training and find jobs. The Nova Scotia Apprenticeship Agency is managing the project on behalf of the Atlantic Apprenticeship Council, which is made up of the four Atlantic Apprenticeship authorities.
