

Don Munro invented games during the Great Depression as a way of helping his family survive. From his basement he grew the Munro Games Ltd. For years he sold his hockey games through the T. Eaton Co., Fall and Christmas catalogue. Many enjoyed the game and getting the puck in the net! Check it out at the Farm Equipment Museum. (Contributed)

The Farm Equipment Museum is a trove of treasures found on the farm in days gone by. It's easy to spend an afternoon, or an entire day browsing. There is always something unusual to see. New additions to the Museum highlight farming life and lifestyles of years gone by. Pictured are items that added fun during leisure time after the chores. (Contributed)
